

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of a failure to serve the public interest, but to instead serve the private interests of the family in control of the corporation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. When a family controlled corporate management pre-empts regular programming to show politically biased specials, it is clear and direct evidence that management is ignoring its public interest obligations. As a result, the privilege of using of the public airwaves is forfeited, and license renewal denied.

Thank-you.
